

Transdisciplinary and Intercultural research: insights from the Our Land & Water National Science Challenge and the Primary Innovation programme.

Co-conference to the International Transdisciplinarity Conference 2017: Transdisciplinary Research and Teaching Intercultural endeavours¹. Leuphana University, Germany

Location: Landcare Research, 57 Gerald Street, Lincoln

Date: 13th September 2017

Time 12 noon to 8 pm

Registration: Free. Can you please register at the main conference registration webpage: <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/international-transdisciplinarity-conference2017-tickets-33302725348> by 30 August

Co-conference programme:

12.00-12.45	Lunch
12.45-1.00	Welcome
1.00-2.00	Transdisciplinary Research and Teaching Intercultural endeavours, recorded keynote presentations	Recorded from Germany
2.00-2.30	Collaboration as an emergent property	Jeff Foote & Graeme Nicholas
2.30-3.00	Visions of transdisciplinary collaboration: An analysis of five agricultural co-innovation projects through the lens of the Integration and Implementation Framework	Bruce Small
3.00-3.30	Break
3.30-4.00	Revealing power dynamics in collaborative innovation arrangements	Akiko Horita
4.00-4.30	Practice that reveals the essential gestures of collaboration through emergence, and propagates intercultural capacity	Glen Lauder & Phillip Barker
4.30-5.00	Co-creation research for collective community and academic outcomes	Merata Kawharu
5.00-5.30	Road testing the Integration and Implementation Science framework for delivering more fit for purpose science for policy	Melissa Robson
5.30-6.00	Learning or evaluating? Towards a negotiation-of-meaning approach to learning in transitions	James Turner
6.00-7.00	Dinner
7.00-8.00	Powhiri: An indigenous example of collaboration from New Zealand. Key note for main conference	Ra Smith

¹ Main conferecen website: <http://www.leuphana.de/zentren/methodenzentrum/veranstaltungen/itd-conference2017.html>.